session was in no way disturbed by outsiders.

There was a rush by members to discharge committees, to put measures on their passage and to set them as special orders, and many of the efforts were successful after several sharp pusseges.

Mr. Booker got through his bill to tablish a despensary in the town of Virgilina, and this provoked a sharp controversy between himself and Mr. Rew, on one side, and Mr. Jennings, of Lynchburg, on the other. Mr. Rew referred to Mr. Jennings as an antomatic objector, and said he was putting himself in a "picayuneish" position. Mr. Jennings objected on the ground that the language of the gentleman from Accomac, but that the had not heard the language of the gentleman from Accomac, but that the rules of the House in this regard would be observed. The bill was passed. Ayes, 56; noes, 17.

The House set several bills as special orders, two interesting ones having been as follows:

s follows:
By Mr. Byrd-To regulate the speed of atomobiles; special order for 12:30 to-

By Mr. Powell-To abolish license taxes upon physicians; 12:30 next Tuesday.

The Senate will resume the considera-tion of the general appropriation bill at 12:30 to-day.

DAY IN THE SENATE.

Apropriation Bill Engages the Attention of the Body.

Attention of the Body.

A single bill had been passed and the Senate was engaged in a further discussion of the Campbell measure, now on its passage, permitting husband and wife to testify for and against each other in certain cases, when the arrival of the noon hour brought up for consideration the general appropriation bill as a special order. Business of every sort will be at a standstill until this vital act, disposing of a grand total for two years of $8,400,000 is disposed of.

At great length, Mr. Wickham, of Hanover, chairman of the Senate Combittee on Finance and Banks, went over the bill, pointing out as to each item first, any change that had been made in the existing law by the bill as it came from the House, and, second, any additional changes, recommended by the Senate Committee, Concurring in every addition made by the House to the current appropriations the Senate Committee proposed a number of increases on its part, and in but one instance reduced a amount as fixed in the printed bill.

This was with reference to the usual allowance of $6,000 for milleage of judges.

Increase Over House.

stated, the Senate committee oned in everything the House proposed, ar as they went, and where changes made, invariably proposed slight inses. The important changes are one were made, invariably proposed slight increases. The important changes are one giving the attorney-general an assistant and another increasing the salary, of the Supreme Court judges. When he reached the appropriation of $400,000 annually to the primary schools, Mr. Wickham paid a high tribute to Mr. Thomas, of Lynchburg, who has been indefatigable in his efforts in behalf of the schools. This appropriation is $200,000 in excess of that of last year. Many senators asked questions as to various appropriations, and there will evidently be one or two sharp rights before the bill gets through. The Sepate committee increases the appropriations for the first year by $37,750 over the House estimate, and the second Scar, by $36,500. The House bill showed an increase over the appropriations made by the last General Assembly of $507,236 for the first year and $44,096 for the second the first year and $494,096 for the second year. The Senate bill shows an increase the first year and $434,096 for the second year. The Senate bill shows an increase over the last appropriation of $545,096 for the first year and $521,046 for the second year, making a total increase by the present General Assembly of $1,069,142 over the last appropriation for general seneses. The grand totals approximats $4,290,699 for each year, or an aggregate of $8,490,699 for the two years.

Calling attention to these immense sums, Mr. Wickham declared that the cemmittee had labored long and earnestly over an appalling mass of details which it would be his pleasure to lay before the Senate in extense, should which it would be his pleasure to lay before the Senate in extense, should any member so desire. Speaking generally, he declared that the State was in excellent financial condition, but that so great are the demands for money, all for worthy causes deserving consideration, "the General & sembly is getting down perilously near to the danger point where it must carefully deliberate over so small a matter as a $2.00 appropriation. a matter as a $3,000 appropriation, Normal Doing Great Work.

Replying to questions from Mr. Fulton, of Warren as to the occasion for further increasing the annuity to the Farmville Normal school, Mr. Wickham with some warmth, declared that this institution was the only contribution the General Assembly made directly to the women of the Siste that it was deliged. General Assembly made directly to the women of the State, that it was doing a great and growing work, and trust for his part he would have been willing to give it ten times as much, if the treasury could have afforded it. When the penitentiary appropriation was reached Major Lynn, of Loudoun, questioned the advisability of making increases, declaring that the Senate was able to use claring that the Schate was able to make Re-enacted in Lower Branch.

The House was presided over by Speaker Cardwell, and Rev. L. J. Haley, the member from Louisa, offered prayet.

The doorkeeper alled attention to the rule, no, permitting outsiders upon the floor, and later Judge Martin Williams, the patron of the anti-compact insurance bill, to be disposed of at the session, arosa and said:

"Mr. Speaker for reasons personal to myself, I call for the enformement of the rule." The rule was enforced.

Mr. Booker moved to take up out of its order his bill to establish a whiskey dispensary in the town of Virgilina, and made a strong appeal for his motion. Mr. Booker said all his representatives favored the bill and that it was entirely local in its nature. Mr. Fowell opposed giving one member a privilege not accorded amother, in the matter of taking bills up out of their order, and Mr. Jennings spoke strongly against nil dispensaries on principle, Mr. Green opposed the motion, and sought to cut our further debate; but having prefaced his motion for the nond, ing question with a speech, he was not in order.

Rew advocated the motion of Mr. er, and he said something about the jection in order to pass a bill by and it was adopted.

Mr. Byrd got the House to set his bill regulating the speed of automobiles as a special order for 22.26 o'clock to-marrow, and the special appropriation bill was fixed for 1 o'clock on the same day.

Other bills, including that to amend the charter of the hown of Colleger, we're taken up and advanced. Nearly every member wanted to get some measure up, and finally Dr. Powell asked that his bill alolishing the license tax on physicians be set as a special order for nexy Treesday. His motion was adopted. The immigration bill was made a special order for Modula and Crewry. The special order measure—was laid before the House, and Mr. Gill, of Petersburg, spoke earnestly in favor of its passage. He introduced policies carried on his stock to show that rates have increased under the regime of the Southeastern Tariff Association.

He was followed by Mr. Ould, who spoke on the same line and asked that the bill be passed. Mr. C. C. Taliaferro advocated the bill and he undertook to show that it was greatly. The measure was favored by Mr. Rew, and he believed there was widespread demand for its passage.

Mr. James L. Taliaferro protested against the bill and said that its passage would be a distinct blow to the best intercases of the people. Mr. Moncure said his rates had been doubled under the new conditions, and he asked for the new conditions, and he asked for the newsage of the bill and Mr. Lane testified to increased rates in his experience, in appealing for the passage of the mensure. Mr. Baker gave the House the benefit of his experience on the subject, and he opposed the bill and said he had come to learn that the S. E. T. A. was a benefit to the insurer. He showed that the rates at his big tannery plant had been lowered as a result of regulations of the association. Mr. Massie followed in opposition and made a strong speech on the subject. He saw no reason for the passage of the bill, and he denied that the S. E. T. A. was any octopus, reaching out to strangle the people. Mr. Massie pointed of the bill, and he denied that the S. E. T. A. was any octopus, reaching out to strangle the people. Mr. Massie pointed out that the association was careful to reduce fire heazards by thorough inspection and otherwise, and referred to the fact that the law had proven a failure in Virginia was careful to request the speaker showed that the rarson dwellings in Richmond had been reduced, and though the country had not been factored, and the speaker showed that the rarson dwellings in Richmond had been reduced, and though the country had not been factored and the speaker of the hill and said it was an insult that the little shows a speaker of the hill and said it was an insult that the little shows the said of the speaker of the hill and presented petitions from constituents endorsing it.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session was convened at 3:30 o'clock, Speaker Cardwell presiding. Mr. Haley, rising to a question of privillege, stated that at the morning session, he had voted for the Williams insurance bill under a misapprehension. He desired to be recorded in the negative.

Mr. Booker moved that inasmuch as the people of Virginia are deeply interested in the single book list question, and that the very able argument made on the subject by Mr. Gwathmey, of King William, on the preceding day had not appeared at length in the press; that five hundred copies be printed for the benefit of the members. Mr. Lee moved that the number be one thousand, and this was accepted by the patron. The chain sold there was no official information that the manuscript of the gentleman from King William was available. "The speech is all written out and can be easily secured," said Mr. Gwathmey.

Mr. McRae moved as a substitute that the press be requested to print the remarks of the gentleman at length. Mr. Lane supported the original motion of Mr. Churchman, the resolution as amended was passed by. There was a disposition to reconsider, as the House greatly enjoyed the remarks of Mr. Gwathmey, but no formal motion to this effect was made.

Mr. Gwathmey called up out of its order the bill to establish a calculation.

ide. Gwathmey called up out of its der the bill to establish a school for e colored deaf and blind, and it was posed by Mr. Gwathmey and favored Mr. J. L. Tallaferro and passed.
